Only One Christian
A Billionth of an Inch
Two Fighting Machines
Advice Is Easy

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

SENATOR BORAH revives the question that Uncle Sam give to starving millions in China the 250,000,000 bushels of wheat that the government has bought, and can't sell.

Borah adds a business idea. He says little wheat from us, where Chinese eat rice. Not having it now, they probably would want it if we gave it to them, by developing a taste for it and building up a future market for us.

Aside from drumming up trade, why not give the wheat to the starving for the good of our souls, religiously speaking. Seeing us give away 250,000,000 bushels of wheat, enough to make 10 billion loaves of bread, Providence might reward us by ending our depression.

In any case, it would be one way to discredit Nietzsche's well-known epigram: "There has been but one Christian, and He died on the cross."

PROFESSOR COMPTON, winner of the Nobel prize in physics, shows the atoms in an electron, separated from each other by one-billionth of an inch, and, in proportion to their size, as far apart as the earth and the sun. Until lately it was thought that nothing smaller than the atom could exist. Now we know that it is a little solar system, with a proton, or nucleus in the center, like our sun, and electrons revolving around it, like planets.

In the order of bigness, matter is arranged by Professor Compton as follows: "Electron, atom, bacterium, gnat, man, mountain, earth, sun, solar system, galactic cluster, galaxy and known universe."

That known universe is so big that it would take light, going 186,000 miles a second, about 600,000,000 years to cross from one side to the other. Figure out that distance.

And, for all we know, "known universe" may be merely one little group of cosmic dust in an infinitely bigger universe. Think of "a billionth of an inch," and thousands of suns a million million times as big as our sun.

UNCLE SAM is building two airplanes that will help us to realize the uselessness of marching troops in future wars. Each of the planes, called "hedge-hoppers," will carry five machine guns, to "spray" marching soldiers with bullets, while flying 50 feet above ground.

In addition to machine guns each plane will carry 500 pounds of bombs.

Imagine the sensations of marching troops, crawling at snail's pace, with planes flying 200 miles an hour dropping bombs and shooting them down.

ADVICE IS EASY. The farm board says to farmers: "Plant less wheat; there is too much of it," and to cotton growers: "Plant less cotton; there is too much of it."

The farmer will ask: "What shall I plant? Shall I plant perishable foods that will not pay the cost of freight? Shall I raise hens and find that a warm winter has reduced eggs to 12 cents a dozen—so low that some farmers have fed eggs to their pigs?"

Those that advise farmers should remember that their need is to grow a crop that will "keep" and can be held for a better market. What can he grow in place of grain

GET REPORT ON INSPECTION OF RECORDS HERE

State Accountant Lists Findings of $1,740 in County, Township Audit.

COVERS TWO-YEAR PERIOD

Errors Found Result Chiefly from Methods of Keeping Records.

Findings totaling $1,740.22 have been returned by a state examiner following an audit of records in Marion county and township offices. The report of the audit was made today to Prosecutor R. M. Wilhelm and Auditor Earl Thomas, by William A. Corbet, state examiner.

Covering a period between March 1, 1928, to May 12, 1930, the total findings against the county offices were $1,593.37 of which $198.67 has been repaid. The audit of township books covers a longer period of time—Feb. 23, 1927, to Jan. 1, 1931—with total findings of $156.85. Of this amount $10 has been paid.

Finds Sum Due Schools

Marion city schools will receive $667.33 from 17 school districts as a result of an error in the transfer of funds in tax settlements. Marion county will receive $823.52 from various groups and in dividends. Marion city owes the county $122.27.

Findings returned in the townships were in small amounts from individuals. Thirty-eight separate findings were returned.

Carrying of public liability and property damage insurance on county automobiles and road equipment was listed as unnecessary by the examiner. He held that $1,282.35 paid to Marion insurance firms was illegal in view of an opinion in which the state attorney general held that the county is not responsible for damage growing out of the use of such cars for governmental purposes.

Failure of the county commissioners' journal to show all the formal steps in the transaction led to the examiner declaring the purchase of an automobile costing $700 illegal. The journal, according to the examiner, carried only the approval of the bill. The examiner held that it is necessary for county employes desiring cars for use in transacting official business to make application to the common pleas judge. The court is to fix the amount to be paid for the car.

Illegally Paid

Two speakers at teachers' meetings in Marion received $50 for their services. The examiner said that the county board of education did not have authority permiting the payment of speakers at such meetings. He held the expenditure of the funds illegal.

Four contracts let for extra construction on county roads and

BUSINESS DISTRICTS DAMAGED BY FLAMES

$300,000 Loss Caused by Fires in Steubenville, O., Weirton, W. Va.

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 26—Two major fires here and at Weirton, W. Va., across the Ohio river, early today caused damage estimated at $300,000.

The building and equipment of the Weirton Daily Times, owned by H. C. Ogden, of Wheeling, were destroyed by a $100,000 blaze that originated in the basement of the building. A lodge hall, a furniture store and two apartments in the building also were destroyed.

The Steubenville blaze swept the store and stock of Munker's, one of the city's oldest businesses.

The three-story building was a complete loss. Firemen estimated the damage at $200,000.

The Weirton fire company's truck was being used in fighting the Steubenville blaze when the fire broke out at Weirton and equipment was rushed from a coal plant to fight the flames.

No one was injured, although tenants of the apartments were forced to flee, some of them in their night attire.

Mrs. Frank Annen and Mrs. Carl Sifritt are members of the chorus but were unable to be present for chorus rehearsal on the day the picture was taken.

EVERY singer a mother is the one requirement for membership in the Mother Singers of the South Side Community club. Since November when the Singers chorus was organized, enthusiasm has been high for this enterprise which started as an idea of the program chairman this year, Mrs. George Turney Myers of Willow street.

They sing because they like to sing, these 40 mothers who make up the chorus. There is nothing that requires them to be at rehearsal Friday afternoons from 2 to 3 o'clock. But their enthusiasm brings them out for rehearsals.

THE auditorium of the Pearl Street school where rehearsals are held, resembles a kiddies play room on some afternoons where there is an unusually large attendance of mother singers. Some of them bring the babies and their scooters, others bring playthings to keep the babies amused and others push the baby buggies right into the gymnasium so that the infant son or daughter will be under mother's eye during the hour's rehearsal.

Mrs. Eugene Moore of Bellefontaine avenue is donating her time and services as director of the chorus, selecting music suitable for the mothers to sing, directing each rehearsal and traveling with the chorus when it accepts an invitation to sing.

Already, after 10 rehearsals, the chorus has appeared on the program of a district Parent-

GOVERNOR GETS REPEAL BILL

Illinois Legislature Adopts Measure To Abolish State Prohibition Law.

PASSES BY SINGLE VOTE

Chief Executive Fails To Indicate Attitude Toward Proposed Act.

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 26—Whether Illinois is to abandon its prohibition enforcement laws today was put up to Governor Louis Emmerson.

Members of the state senate left the problem in his hands yesterday by passing by a vote of 26 to 24 a bill, already approved by the house, calling for repeal of the state prohibition law and the search and seizure act. If signed by him the effect, opponents of the measure contend, would be to leave the matter of enforcing the anti-liquor laws entirely in the hands of the federal government.

Ten Days to Deliberate

The governor will receive the bill later this week and has ten days in which to consider his decision. He has given no indication of what it will be. If he approves it, Illinois will become the sixth state to take similar action. Montana, Nevada, Wisconsin, New York and Massachusetts once had prohibition laws, but repealed them.

Prior to passage of the O'Grady-McDermott bill, named for its sponsors in the house and senate, opponents of the measure attempted to attach a referendum clause, but lost by a vote of 26 to 24.

Republican leaders urged their colleagues to vote for repeal to fulfill a plank in the party's state platform, adopted last fall, pledging its representatives in congress to abide by the will of the voters, as expressed in a referendum at the general election in November of 1930.

Statistics Used

They cited statistics compiled by the Association Opposed to Prohibition giving the referendum vote as 1,050,004 for repeal and 523,130 against.

The deciding vote was cast by Senator Adelbert Roberts, a Chicago Negro.

"Against my better judgment and as painful as it is to me, I'm going to vote with the wets," Senator Roberts said. "Mr. President, I am casting a mandate vote; it is the people's vote, not mine."

PROBE CONTINUES

COLUMBUS, O., March 26—The county grand jury's investigation into the Ohio penitentiary fire went into its third day today, with Joseph D. Clear, deputy state fire marshal, scheduled to again face examination.

Four convicts and two prison guards testified before the jury Wednesday, Prosecutor Don Matthews said. The names of those testifying are being withheld, to avoid complications at the prison.

Sessions today still were scheduled as to when Warden Preston E. Thomas was to testify before the jury [illegible] of the fire.

FOSTER LINKED WITH SLAYING

Prosecution Springs Surprise Move in Murder Trial of Leo Brothers.

HELD AS AN ACCOMPLICE

Chicago Gangster Not Charged with Actual Murder of Reporter.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 26—The connection, if any, that Frank Foster, Chicago ganster, had in the assassination of Alfred "Jake" Lingle became a matter of speculation today in the trial of Leo V. Brothers for the murder of the crime reporter for the Chicago Tribune.

Foster, who was captured last July 1 in Los Angeles, was linked with the case by the testimony of Otto Swoboda, a state witness, who said he saw three men run out of the Randolph street pedestrian tunnel after Lingle was shot last June 9. One of them was Brothers, he said. The other was Foster.

Defense Surprised

The testimony caused a sensation in the crowded courtroom, since there had been no intimation of this from the prosecution. The defense was likewise apparently taken by surprise.

Swoboda, under call for further examination when court opened today, testified under questioning by Attorney Harry Cantwell, representing Brothers, that the man he knew as Foster, had been waiting at the subway entrance with Brothers just prior to the shooting of Lingle, and that Foster had lit a cigaret for Brothers, who kept his left hand in his pocket.

Foster is reputed to have been a member of the gang of George "Bugs" Moran, Jack Zuta and Joe Aiello, which is reported to have had a grievance against Lingle.

Zuta, Aiello Slain

Zuta was killed last summer after he had been questioned in connection with Lingle's case, and Aiello was slain last fall when ambushed by machine guns on the north side.

The state has never contended that Foster was the actual slayer, although he was indicted in connection with Lingle's death. The contention has been that he was an accomplice.

STATE HINGES POTTER DEATH ON CITY GRAFT

Will Seek To Prove Slaying Connected with Playground Scandal.

PLANS DISCLOSED TODAY

(Picture of Jury on Page 13)

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., March 26—Prosecution attorneys in the murder trial of "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin revealed today the state will try to prove that the slaying of former Councilman William E. Potter was directly connected with Cleveland's playground scandal, which sent one former councilman and his son to the penitentiary and which threw suspicion on other public officials here.

It was the first time that the state has disclosed adherence to the theory that Potter was slain to seal his lips from further testimony in the playground case.

Court Clerk Testifies

The state's disclosure concerning the playground case came just after Fred C. Heidt, chief deputy clerk of courts, testified of the times Potter had been indicted in the scandal, and of the appearance before the grand jury of former Councilman L. G. Schooley and his son, Liston, Jr.

Schooley and his son, who have been in the penitentiary more than a year on conviction of complicity in the playground case, went before the grand jury here Feb. 3, this year, the same day Potter was secretly slain.

Defense attorneys inquired the purpose of this testimony.

"The purpose of establishing the time the Schooleys went before the grand jury was to establish the important point in developing the motive for the slaying," one of the prosecuting attorneys replied.

Identified As Markus

A moment later, Fred C. Laub, custodian of the apartment where Potter was killed, dramatically pointed to Martin and named him as the man who rented the death suite under the name of "M. J. Markus."

Attorneys for Martin admitted that Martin was in Cleveland within 45 minutes of the time when the state contends Potter was slain.

Defense Disputes Claim

Defense attorneys insisted however, the killing was about two hours later than the time claimed by the state, and that Martin was in Akron at least half an hour before the crime was committed.

The admission by Attorney William E. Minshall that Martin was at the Auditorium hotel here until

The two senators were returning from a fishing trip to Pearl islands when they sighted a launch drifting helplessly at sea and sending up distress signals.

REPORT SHOWS INDICATIONS OF TRADE REVIVAL

Evidence of Much-Desired Stability Found in Majority of States.

ANALYSIS ENCOURAGING

Improved Conditions, Though Moderate, Shown Over Year Ago.

BY J. R. BRACKETT
Associated Press Business Writer

NEW YORK, March 26—The great, dark cloud which has enshrouded American business these past months has begun to turn itself bright side out.

A survey and analysis of conditions from a majority of the states give evidence that stability, the most important present desire of business, is slowly but steadily being achieved.

There are no spectacular indications of recovery in the financial communities, but where a year ago industry reported lay-offs and curtained production programs, today in every area of the country, sporadically but none the less consistently, industry reports improvement.

More Than Seasonal

And it's not only the spring urge, which nearly always increases business, as witness the Federal Reserve board's finding that industrial output and volume of wage payments went up more than seasonally in February.

In Memphis, Tenn., the mayor's unemployment relief committee, snowed under for months, is discontinuing apple selling concessions, wood-cutting and other emergency measures. Red Cross workers all over the south report slackened activity.

Automobiles, an artery of business, are going to be made in increasing numbers. The tire plant of the United States Rubber company at Detroit now is and expects to continue working its full complement of 4,000 employes. Buick Motor company at Flint, Mich., increased March production schedules 30 per cent over February, and March 1931 is running 18 per cent over March 1930.

Movies Help Out

Paramount-Publix Corporation at Hollywood will employ from 1,700 to 2,100 persons exclusive of extras and players in a production program calling for seven pictures a month for the next four months.

The Utica, N. Y., Industrial association last week reported 4.4 per cent increase in employment. At Syracuse, the L. C. ## LONG-SOUGHT DESPERADO IN MISSOURI JAIL

Man Indicted in St. Valentine's Day Massacre Captured in Farm House.

ADMITS HIS IDENTITY

Seized Before He Has Chance To Use Gun; Called Most Dangerous Man Alive.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 26—Fred H. Burke, notorious killer and robber indicted for the St. Valentine's day massacre of seven gangsters in Chicago, in 1929, was arrested in a farm house near Milan, Mo., early today and brought to the St. Joseph jail, where he admitted his identity.

The prisoner, characterized by Chicago authorities as "the most dangerous man alive," was placed in a specially constructed cell in the St. Joseph jail and two patrolmen were detailed to guard him.

FRED BURKE

Burke engaged in a long distance telephone conversation with the chief of detectives in Chicago, who he told, Police officers said, "I am not a damn bit afraid to come back to Chicago."

When told he had been identified as the gangster held responsible for a dozen murders and robberies totalling a million dollars, Burke at first said:

"Well, if you know who I am, there is no use of me telling you."

Police Captain J. E. Kelly said the prisoner later readily admitted he was Burke.

Caught in Bed

Burke was in bed when Police Captain John Lard and several other officers rushed into his room with machine guns ready. He was seized before he could reach for his revolver, hanging near his bed.

The prisoner expressed relief when he learned the armed party was composed of officers.

"I thought I was being taken for a ride," he said.

Police said Burke and a woman companion had been living near Milan since last November.

Rewards totalling $90,000 have been offered for Burke's arrest, police said.

He first gave the name of Richard Franklin White of Kansas City.

A news dispatch from Chicago reported that Chief of Detectives John Norton was sending three officers to St. Joseph, taking with them seven warrants for Burke's arrest as a murder—outgrowth of the St. Valentine's day massacre.

Long Crime List

A dozen murders and robberies totaling nearly a million dollars are charged against Burke by various police departments. Rewards for his capture are reported to total $90,000. Some of the crimes with which he is charged are:

Ransome kidnapings in Detroit over a period of eight years, $230,000.

John Kay Jewelry robbery in Detroit, 1924, $6,000.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

FULL HOUSE HEARS EVANGELIST SPEAK

Dr. George B. Winrod Declares Church Now Passing Through Crisis.

A packed house heard Dr. George B. Winrod, founder of the Defenders of the Christian Faith, preach at the Calvary Evangelical church last night. Dr. Winrod declared "the church of Jesus Christ is passing through a crisis the like of which has never been experienced since the days of Martin Luther.

"The church is the instrument through which God works and it is natural that an institution of this kind should be the victim of an organized satanic assault. When the church was in its infancy its destruction was sought by physical methods. In the present crisis it is being attacked by Satan working as an 'angel of light' appearing in the form of higher intelligence as a super-intellectualism."

The visit of the Defenders to Marion is part of a nation-wide tour and the speakers of this interdenominational movement are traveling from city to city. Meetings will be held every day this week at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. Dr. Winrod will use as his subject tonight, "Christ Within" and Friday night he will talk on "Evolution."

The Stars Say—

For Friday, March 27

A DAY of very important events and affairs is forecast from the actuating lunar transits of major planets. An element of the sudden and unforeseen dominates, with new ventures or rearranged plans claiming the attention. There may be some hostile conditions in employment or with superiors. But favors or assistance from moneyed individuals may be available for fresh undertakings. Change seems imminent, and despite many hazards there may be conspicuous gain and advancement.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an important year, with large interests at stake. There is a sudden change, new projects, possible chance of employment or disruption therein. But alliances with secret bodies or close corporations, with assistance from those in place of power and financial standing is presaged, but it is enjoined that all arrangements be managed with precaution. A child born on this day should have many pronounced talents and capacities for success in important ventures, but may also encounter much opposition from employers or associates and business reverses. It may be temperamental and original.

BRITISH LABOR RULE FACES CRUCIAL TEST

Fight for Life of MacDonald Government Set for Next Week.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 25—The British labor government is to be tried for its life in the British house of commons next week.

The prosecuting attorney will be Stanley Baldwin, conservative leader, who will press a motion of censure on unemployment, while the government's case may rest principally in the hands of Young Johnston, new lord privy seal and unofficial minister of unemployment.

The judge and jury will be the members of the Liberal party, who last night voted to withhold a definite decision on which way they will cast their balance of power until the labor program, particularly on unemployment, is expanded during debate on the motion of censure.

An adverse verdict by the Liberals, or even any considerable section of their 58 votes would mean instant execution for the government—resignation of Prime Minister MacDonald and a new general election to determine the complexion of the next ministry.

CITY LAUNCHES HOUSECLEANING

Tammany Acts in Preparation for N. Y. Legislative Investigation.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 26—Housecleaning in preparation for the visit of legislative investigators into New York's official life loomed today as Tammany's next order of business.

Newspapers generally interpreted the resignations of the two highest officials of the Manhattan bureau of buildings as the first indication the Democratic organization was engaged along these lines.

Any changes in the city's administration are expected to be based upon inquiries made into 11 departments by the commissioner of accounts. Reports of the inquiries are to be turned over to the mayor, who requested them when he returns from California next week.

The same report is expected to form the groundwork for the mayor's formal reply to charges made by the city affairs committee, and submitted to Governor Roosevelt.

The city affairs committee is preparing to make its case against Walker more specific. It also plans to gather data for the legislative committee.

After a conference with Republican party leaders, W. Kingsland Macy, state chairman, announced it was unlikely the legislative committee would be named until the assembly adjourned next month.

Dudley Field Malone, lawyer, in cancelling an engagement to speak next Sunday at a Community Church forum, accused John Haynes Holmes, the pastor, of "bearing false witness" against the mayor. The minister is a member of the city affairs committee.

Leniency Shown Slayer of Daughter's Betrayer

By The Associated Press

BEAUMONT, Tex., March 26—A. B. Johnson, 46-year-old teamster foreman who slew Ottis Lee Adams, 22, alleged betrayer of his daughter, today stood convicted on a murder charge by a jury which heeded both written and unwritten laws.

The verdict, returned last night, assessed and suspended a five-year prison sentence.

Johnson, whose 17-year-old daughter Elizabeth was mysteriously shot to death Dec. 27, listened without emotion as District Judge R. L. Murray explained the sentence would become operative only in the event of conviction on another felony charge.

The father had testified he was convinced Elizabeth committed suicide to escape humiliation because Adams already had a wife.

ASIATIC MONARCHS TO VISIT U. S.

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The "ends of the earth" will meet here in a few months, when his majesty, King Prajadipok, stands face to face with President Hoover. For the king of Siam, accompanied by the queen, Rambai Barni, is to visit America. Except for the official visit to our national capital they will travel through the United States incognito under the titles of Prince and Princess of Sukothai. This is the first time in history that a reigning Asiatic sovereign has visited our shores.

King Prajadipok is the seventh ruler of the dynasty which came into power almost 150 years ago, during one of the darkest periods of Siamese history. The first king of the present dynasty, now known as Rama the first, was both an able military leader and statesman.

KING PRAJADIPOK was called to the throne at the age of 33 to succeed his brother, Rama VI, who died in 1925. His late majesty's only child was a daughter, born the day before his death. Through one of the laws governing the kingdom, it was the former rule to appoint an heir apparent to the throne from the princes of the royal family. This rule has, however, passed into oblivion, and as Rama had no male heir, the throne came into possession of his brother, the present king.

Rama's reign was marked for abolition of many ancient customs. Educated in Oxford, when he ascended the throne he abjured polygamy and abolished the harem which his father had maintained. His father, who died in 1910, left 134 sons and 236 daughters. He had had 3,000 wives.

THE present ruler, King Prajadipok, like his predecessor, was educated at Eton and Oxford and at the Ecole de Guerre in France. So it is not surprising that he, too, has abolished many of the ancient customs of his land, and has incorporated a great many western ideas into his own life. He has added to the comforts of his country by importing American jazz, owns an American speedboat and has encouraged beauty culture among the Siamense women.

Despite the fact that some of the ancient customs are still existent in the kingdom, the Land of the White Elephant is becoming more and more westernized every day. Now she has her own men and women movie stars. She also has a tabloid newspaper, controlled by the king, plenty of radios and many other modern innovations of a distinctly American nature.

THE king of Siam is also a golf enthusiast, and he likes to smoke a pipe to help him concentrate. It is expected he will spend most of his days in America at that quiet western sport. Cataracts, it is said, have so reduced his vision that golf is the only sport he can enjoy. Time was when the king had his tennis almost daily—with his 26-year-old queen. She delights in golf also. Although Siam enjoys some leading hospitals, the young ruler will become a patient in one of the American hospitals during his visit, where he hopes to get cured from his eye ailment.

Super-Shell Ethyl

Livelier, quicker anti-knock gasoline . . . because science has found a way to* REMOVE EVERY SLOW-VAPORIZING, LAZY PARTICLE

NOW . . . science's new, perfected anti-knock fuel!

Super-Shell Ethyl is different. It contains Ethyl fluid, of course—a generous charge that assures positive anti-knock value. But with this is now blended a special gasoline.

Shell engineers developed it. They knew that inferior gasoline—no matter what was added—doesn't deliver best performance in your car. They set out to make anti-knock fuel utterly free of slow-firing, harmful, "heavy" gasoline particles. Months of experiment . . . then they succeeded!

It is a matter of "washing" the gasoline in a series of huge refining towers where the gasoline vapors travel over Shell's amazing system of "bubble cap trays." Here all the harmful, heavy "fractions" so often left in gasoline are "scrubbed" out.

Thus Super-Shell Ethyl gives you finest engine operation. Quick starting. Smooth, even power. High anti-knock value.

Now . . . see what really fine performance your motor is capable of giving. Try this new Super-Shell Ethyl today. One test will convince you.

SPRING MILLINERY IS ATTRACTIVE

Unusual Variety of Models in Season's Designs

BOTH brims and bows, featured in hats for springwear, give the woman of today an opportunity of dealing kindly with her features, in the choice of a hat. If she finds brims have a softening effect and flatter her more than any other type, she may have them for every occasion.

In the tiny cap-like models worn jauntily toward the back of the head give her a piquant, youthful appearance which is so desirable, she may wear them as much as she likes, for they are also adapted in so many materials and are of so many different types that she could choose a dozen if she liked and have them all different and distinctive!

Selection Only the Start

But one thing she must realize . . . she isn't through when she has selected her hat, by no means. For wearing the new hats is the greatest art of all, and it takes experimenting before her own mirror to find just the right angle at which to perch the new hat over the right eye, just the proper area of the forehead to display, just the right amount of coiffure to peep out from under the line of the hat whether it is the small hat or the one with brim tucked up at side or back.

Beauty or Smartness, or Both

When fashion authorities themselves disagree as to whether it is sufficient to be pretty or if it is more important to be smart, the individual is left in a quandary as to which to choose. One says "nothing considered merely pretty and becoming is approved of at all." Another says "be pretty in the new hats."

The fact is, it is possible to be both pretty and smartly modern with such an infinite variety of styles, materials and trimmings as are shown in millinery this year. The only advice is, "be very careful not to overdo the prettiness." It is such a temptation to see only the soft flattery the hat gives to the face, without getting up to view the entire effect in a full length mirror.

Two Colors Better Than One

The two-tone or two-color hat originated, no doubt, because of the prestige of the tailored suit with its blouse of a second tone or one that frankly contrasts.

For that matter, it doesn't need to rely upon the color contrast in suits for its existence, since every costume of 1931 flaunts colors and combinations of colors. The early tailored types of hats have brightly colored trimmings on black or navy blue hats, strong colors like cherry and flame reds not being considered at all unusual or too exciting in this season of rampant color.

Trimmings include tiny feathers arranged in novel designs, ribbon and flowers. There is nothing dull about hats this year and the fashion of trimmings certainly gives every one an opportunity to be a bit more individual than when hats were just shapes and nothing decorative was allowed by fashion.

Hats Are Very Different

While a general description of 1931 hats, speaking of their brims, their straws and felts, their off-the-forehead lines, may not sound startlingly new, women are assured that they would never mistake them for last years' hats. And no one would ever mistake last year's hats for new ones.

But one nice thing about it, hats may be bought for so much less this year that it will not be so very much of a strain on the purse to "start from scratch" . . . for millinery is right in step with the new economy in fashions that is so noticeable and so gratifying this year.

No More Hemorrhoids

All Pile Agony Ended Without Cutting or Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr J. S. Leonhardt's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Henney & Cooper says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.—Adv.

CHAPTER 22

Ambitious James

"B[illed] Mr. James, "if [goes] back to Maud [dame'll] bump her [me], and we lose the [want] this Maud to [million] dollars?"

Like blazes you her rough!"

double-cross Maud," doctor earnestly, "for Maud comes to me, her and partner, with a pri- of her own and offers generous rake-off. If you to double-cross her else double-cross another think com-

[Sh]immy," the doctor went "there are three little obstacles to your clever scheme. . . . In the first place I'm an honest man, and in the second place the girl wouldn't marry you. And in the third place you're married to Louie. . . . Just tell Louie your scheme, my son . . ."

Without reply Mr. James departed.

"Oh," he observed to himself, "And the girl won't marry me, won't she? Like hell she won't—when I put her wise that I'm her only way out."

There is a tide in the affairs of crooks that, taken at the right time and in the right way, leads to easy money.

"One hundred thousand pounds. . . . Half a million iron men—for the taking.

Should he, or should he not, take the matter into his own hands and strike out a line of his own?"

Since the boss was getting chicken-hearted and allowing this Waye guy to pull any bunk he liked, should he, Mr. James, double-cross the boss? Kill two birds with one stone? Or rather kill the Waye bird—and marry the other bird?

No man had ever yet scored off Mr. James, insulted or man-handled him—as this Waye had done—and lived to brag about it. Suppose he were to bump Waye off, run away with the Lauderdell skirt, "marry" her and settle down on the 100,000 coming to her on her twenty-first birthday?

Once married to him she's soon come across with the dough, too, all of it. He had a way with women, all right. Treat 'em rough and treat 'em often.

And the girl would be glad enough to marry him—or anybody else—to get away from the Monastery . . . if she were properly handled . . . Jump at the chance

What girl in her right senses would refuse an honorable offer of marriage from Mr. James—apart from any question or the alternative—an incurable "illness." She'd certainly jump at the chance if it were only to shorten her stay in that bedroom by a single month

Yes—but what would the boss do?

What could he do? Mr. James knew quite as much about Half-hung Simon as Half-hung Simon knew about Mr. James. Enough to hang him. And with the girl's money safely cached Mr. James would be independent for life.

And the money became the girl's absolutely on September the first, when she was 21. Why let Maud have all that great wad and only peel off 10,000 for those who landed it? . . . Shame to bump off a pretty girl like Marjorie.

Yes—Mr. James would make up to her forthwith, and when she was about at the end of her tether, propose both matrimony and escape.

She'd take the former for the sake of the later, if for no other reason . . .

Yes—but what about his own lawful wife, Louie the Lady? . . . Well, she'd get what was coming to her if she couldn't listen to reason—and have the common decency to stand down, at any rate until the cash was cached—the jealous cat.

It was evident this bright morning, even to Dr. Studley, Sister Weldon, the other nurses and the patients, that their beloved matron, kind Nurse Jones, watchful Mr. James, clever Dr. MacAdoo and the reverend Dr. Charters himself had something on their minds, were unset about something

And upon the minds of the five there was something incredible, monstrous, nauseating—the realization of human depravity hitherto mercifully concealed from them.

"It surely is the most plumb wicked thing I ever heard of," said Mr James, "and, boss, I don't stand for it. It was bad enough when we thought it was a stranger. How on earth did they come to pick on Chink Dorson?"

"How?" snapped the Doctor. "Because Waye put them on to him. He wrote the anonymous letter to the police, and it give them something to work on. They arrested Chink, got his record and framed this case on him

"As soon as anybody is hanged for the murder of Schlitz it lets Waye out. He must have known that Chink was in England and that his record would go against him . . . and, for all we know, he may have had it in for Chink. He may have thought it clever to put the police on to poor Chink for the murder that he himself had committed . . . Anyway it's unspeakable that he should lie in bed here at 8 o'clock in the morning while Chink is walking to the scaffold with the awful sky-pilot reading the burial service over him while he's alive and warm."

A shudder ran through the company gathered in the consulting room.

"Look here, chief," broke in Dr. MacAdoo, "we must save poor old Chink Dorson."

Dr. Charters turned his stern regard first upon the matron and then upon Nurse Jones. Not from them had come the merciful appeal. Sardonically he eyed the ladies, and neither of them spoke.

"At our own risk, Manuel?" he asked. "Send for the police and hand Waye over to them—to tell them all he knows?"

"We must do soemthing," expostulated Dr. MacAdoo indignantly.

"I'm going to do something, all right," Mr. James assured him. "Your Mr. Unspeakable Skunk is going to get his from me right now."

"Look here," continued the doctor. "You can cut the police idea and the killing idea right out, for I won't have the police sent here about a dead Waye any more than a live one. But I'll give him an ultimatum. The day Chink's hanged, Waye goes or he never goes at all. I'll tell him we'll take the risk of killing him and that we'll tell Sir Bernard Matthieson and his solicitor and banker that he went hopelessly mad and escaped before we could get him certified.

"But mind you, Jimmy, we're not going to do it. A dead Waye is going to be more dangerous to us than a live one. As soon as Chink's hanged there's no further reason for Waye to hide here, and there's no earthly reason why he should return our hospitality by rounding on us . . . And if he does who's going to listen to the mad mutterings of the lunatic for whom Dr. Charters is hunting everywhere.

"And we can't do anything to help Chink," he added. "We can't lift a finger. It's the worst thing I ever heard of. But there it is, and if the man's got absolutely no conscience at all, poor Chink's got to swing."

And as his colleagues left him alone the doctor smiled as he added:

"Yes—Chink Dorson's got to swing—and the sooner the better. Thank you, Mr. Waye . . ."

To Be Continued.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

WHEN I woke up and pushed Jubilee out of bed this morning I was supprized to find that there was a new pane of glass in my window that my unkle had broke with his head when Feeble shot him while he was washing the windows, and when I had let Jubilee down by his rope, and had went down and done my work and was feeding my face I found out that my unkle had fixed the window yesterday before he sawed the tree.

My mother thought she would be nice to my unkle because he got scairt yesterday fixing the tree for her, so she smiled at him and said the tree looks a whole lot better. My unkle said, "Yes, the tree does, but look at me." My father said he would like to look at him but he couldn't look at him without laughing. He said that anyone that would set out on a limb and saw it off ought to go into vaudeville or the goofy house. That made my ant mad and she said it was a perfectly natural mistake for anyone to make.

My unkle has got some cotton and court plaster on his neck, and he said people ought to be more charitable to a fella that almost cut his juggler vein trying to do something for them. Then my mother said for him to have some more pancakes and cheer up. She said it was so unusual for anyone to try to do something for them instead of do them for something that they hadn't quite grasped it. Then my unkle said that anyone that tried to do anything for our family only make a munky of himself, and my mother said that was the very thing she thought when she saw him hanging in the tree. Then I grabbed some pancakes for Jubilee and lit out, because they were all getting sore and if I stayed I might get blamed for what my unkle had done.

We all went over to see how Banty is getting along and he will be going to school next week, so he ain't getting along so good as he had hoped he would. If he had scarlet fever he would get to stay out almost all the rest of the term, but his mother said scarlet fever is bad and it might leave him silly or something, and I said she couldn't blame scarlet fever if it left him like it found him, and we all laughed and so did she, and when we told her about my unkle she believed. When we got to my house after school my grandfather had been to the lake and caught a lot of fish, and I had to clean some before taking them to my house. The biggest one was not, but pretty soon [illegible] big fish [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible]

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Charles Owen Is "Paying Court" to Marion.

MARY often has startled me with her keenness, but never more than at her response to my announcement that Harry and Lillian Underwood would not permit Marion to go to the Brixton's house party if Mary could not accompany her. With a knowing look she had said that she supposed the condition was made "on general principles" and "on account of darling Uncle Charlie Owen."

"What do you know of Mr. Owen?" I asked, a trifle breathless at the sudden emergence of this name so dreaded by us at the farmhouse.

"Enough and plenty, and then some," Mary returned flippantly but with a serious tone supporting the lighter one. "Don't forget I'm the only person even approaching Marion's age in this house as yet of course Hank and Bill will be along tonight, but they're younger anyway, and terribly hobbledehoy - she wouldn't be confiding in them."

What Marion Is Thinking

Despite my anxiety as to what she meant by her reference to Mr Owen whose name was sinister portent to anyone of our family, I forgot it for the moment in fierce resentment at the patronizing elder-sister note in her voice as she spoke of her two brothers whom Dicky had gone to the city to fetch.

"I don't think you'll find them hobbledehoy, Mary," I said severely when I could control my voice.

"What—oh I beg pardon, of course not." Mary was stumbling over her words confusedly. "I did not just mean that. I meant to emphasize the fact that I was really the one around here who knows most about what Marion is thinking."

There was no boasting in her voice merely matter of fact conviction, and I forgot the defensive anger for the boys which had come to me. I suppose it is because both boys so appreciated the mothering I gave them Christmas and have written me such wonderful letters concerning their school that I have a warm place in my heart for them I knew that, even as if I were their real mother, I should count the hours until Dicky arrived with them.

But I had a more important subject than the boys before me just now. The feeling that I was about to learn something of deep concern to us was strong upon me, but I controlled my voice to casualness as I asked:

"Is there anything you particularly know about Mr. Owen which you think we should share?"

"Yes, there is." Her eyes met mine squarely, but I saw a worried light in them. "Now, remember, Marion has told me nothing of this, so I'm not betraying any confidence, but from little things I've noticed, and little things I've overheard in conversations between Marion and Carolyn, I know that old Uncle Charlie is giving Marion an awful lot of time."

I stared at her uncomprehendingly for a second or two, then as the horrid truth began to dawn on me, I actually choked over the question I pumped up from my panic-stricken heart:

"Mary, what do you mean? You cannot mean that that old man——"

I stopped, unable to voice the interpretation I first had put upon her words.

Not So Old

"He isn't so terribly old," Mary said judicially. "Such things have happened. And by giving her a lot of time' I mean what you used to mean, by 'courting,' 'wooing,' 'paying a girl marked attention, the marry sort of thing, you know."

"Oh!" I sank back into my chair, too spent for the moment to rise or speak. Even to speak of the scoundrelly Charles Owen in the same breath as Lillian's winsome daughter seemed sacrilege.

"Marion doesn't know, does she?" I asked when I could make my voice articulate.

"She does and she doesn't," Mary answered. She's terribly flattered at his attentions, because's he's such a polished thing, and the girls at Whitney Hall have all sorts of romantic stories floating around about him—I believe he's supposed to be a duke in disguise—all that sort of thing, you know. But she really doesn't understand what it's all about—Marion's an awful kid in a lot of ways, if she has graduated from preparatory school, and of course Owen's mightily careful not to come out into the open—he's most circumspect, does the devoted uncle act to perfection. But anybody with half a real eye can see what he's about. He means to marry Marion if he can get her, which of course he can't."

"Has anyone else noticed this?" I asked, and received the surprise of my life in answer.

"Mr Underwood has," Mary replied. "In fact, it was he who topped me off to keep an eye out for the elegant Mr. Owen."

WILLIAM POWELL TO BE HERE IN CROOK PICTURE AT PALACE

Star Says This Will Be His Last Show of Type.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

EXCELLENT William Powell comes to the Palace Friday and Saturday in his latest and he's declared in moving picture magazines his last crook play, "Man of the World." Opposite him are two charming girls, Carole Lombard, with whom gossip says he's seen about in Hollywood and Wynne Gibson

Carole Lombard

When Powell and Guy Kibbee, a member of the featured cast, shared the same dressing-room in Northampton Mass., as members of the Northampton Stock Co Calvin Coolidge, then a little known lawyer, with an ardent supporter of them Kibbee veteran stage actor and character comedian, rose to fame in the New York success "Torch Song" and joined the cast of Nancy Carroll's "Stolen Heaven" The studio atmosphere "got" him and he's still at the west coast Paramount studio.

Herman Mankiewicz, former assistant dramatic editor of the New York Times, authored this latest Powell story and is now under contract to Paramount as a writer

"HELL'S VALLEY" TO PLAY MARION

All we know about the Marion program for Friday and Saturday is that the picture will be "Hell's Valley," and that another part of the serial, "The Indians are Coming" will be shown together with a comedy and newsreel

After "Hell's Angels," "Hell's Island" "Hell's Heroes," and so on through the inferno, comes "Hell's Valley"

The Princess is offering for Friday and Saturday, Rex Lease, with Dorothy Sebastian in "The Utah Kid." Also named in the cast are Tom Santschi, Marry Carr, of "Over the Hill" fame and Boris Karloff, born in London, Eng., and educated at Uppingham King's college

A comedy, "Sailor, You Said It," has been billed and part three of the serial, "The Indians Are Coming," will be shown Instead of going to Mexico for the "eternal palamino horse that cowboy stars usually ride" or seeking a pretty pinto of the plains, Rex Lease may import a horse for this series of Tiffany western pictures from Racine, Wis A well known polo player of that city has offered him him choice of mounts from four or five hundred he keeps on a ranch near Racine.

FLOOD TAKES ONE SIDE OF ETERNAL TRIANGLE IN SHOW

Eleanor Boardman Plays Feminine Lead at Marion.

ELEANOR Boardman as Joan Marshall, Monte Blue as David Bruce, and David Newell as Randolph Bannister provide the eternal triangle in "The Flood" a Columbia picture opening at the Marion theater last night.

After an affair with Bannister, Joan leaves her small town home to go to New York where she marries Bruce, an engineer whom she met working on a levee near her small town home. Bruce, a good friend of Bannister's, does not know of their affair.

Bruce is suddenly called to Joan's home town to supervise the construction of the levee. Of course Joan accompanies him Here they meet Bannister, who uses unfair means in an effort to recapture Joan

Although it wrecks the work on the levee Bruce and his men have worked so hard to build, the flood eliminated the triangle situation by drowning Bannister

Well-acted lead parts and unusual storm and flood scenes combine to make this picture interesting and exciting. Short subjects and a news reel complete the Marion bill.

When Judge Martin took the bench after the recess, he dismissed Mrs. DeWees and called for the immediate arraignment of Thrush. On the basis of his own statement, Thrush was obliged to plead guilty.

Since Thrush's testimony yesterday did not agree with statements he made during the trial of Mrs. DeWees on a charge of driving while intoxicated several days ago, Judge Martin pointed out evidences of perjury in Thrush's testimony and increased the customary fine of $100 to $500 for the offense. He will go to the Columbus workhouse if the fine is not paid.

Both charges against Mrs. DeWees were the outgrowth of an automobile-train crash March 12 when the automobile she was driving collided with a C. & O. locomotive at the Center street crossing. At a hearing earlier this week, she was bound to the grand jury under $500 bond, charged with driving while intoxicated. Failing to furnish bond, she is in county jail awaiting action of the grand jury.

Believe It or Not, Girl Captures Mouse

By The Associated Press.

DELAWARE, O., March 26—This is true even if you don't believe it. A tiny, frightened mouse entered the dining room at Monnett hall at Ohio Wesleyan university. There was consternation. Co-eds climbed upon chairs. Everybody screamed but one brave girl. She was Miss Eleanor Strodtbeck of Middletown, a sophomore. She strode nonchalantly across the room, picked up the tiny offender and tossed it through the door.

Yes, it's a true story.

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Overcome

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to Henney & Cooper or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

Kenton St. John has compiled a [good] record in the Kenton vicinity [and] looks like a good bet to win [the] game tonight with Upper San[dusky].

The Phi Psi team from Ohio Wesleyan is the unknown quantity of the first night schedule. From all indications it is plenty strong and it would not be surprising to see the Smart & Waddell five take it on the chin from the fraternity team.

Little is known here of the Phi Tau Kappa of Bucyrus, although it is reported the team has won a majority of its games this season.

BOOST MARION SPORTS!

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

AN opportunity for Marion to assume a position of prominence in the Ohio basketball world is accorded with the staging here tonight, Friday and Saturday of the north Central Ohio amateur basketball tournament. The tournament will be held in the Star auditorium. It is the purpose of the promoters to stage such a tourney here every year at about this time, bringing to a fitting climax the local season of indoor sports.

Not in a long time has Marion had the opportunity of acting as host to such a large number of competitors in a single sport. Excepting the two teams which are strictly local and figuring the alloted number of eight players and a manager there will be at least 243 out-of-town individuals visiting Marion before the week is completed.

THERE is every reason to believe this tournament will be the highest class sports event promoted here in a long time. The competition is certain to be keen and the games will for the most part be hard-fought. Fans who click the turnstiles to witness the court contests are not likely to go away disgruntled at not having seen some good basketball.

Inasmuch as it is the intention of the promoters to repeat the tournament next season the future success of the event hinges in a large measure on the outcome of the one this year. Should the current tourney go over in the expected form it should be a mere forerunner of bigger and better tournaments in the future.

The expenses incurred in conducting such a tournament are not of minor proportions. If the tourney is to pay its own expenses with out going "into the red" a lot of spectators will have to deposit their admission fees on the box office ledge.

IT might not be misplaced here to urge that visiting players be shown every possible courtesy while in Marion. Go out of the way if necessary to lend assistance in directing them. They will be here but a day this time but they may be back next year. Make them feel at home.

There is scarcely a city of any consequence not boasting at least one tournament each year. However there are not a large number of cities boasting a tournament of such proportions as the one here. Its success this year will mean a bigger success next year and in future years. If you want Marion supporting a tournament within a few seasons that ranks with the best in the state get behind the one starting tonight. BOOST IT! YOU'LL BE BOOSTING MARION AND MARION SPORTS AT THE SAME TIME!

Overemphasis or Not, Most Players Indorse Football

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 26—No matter what others believe, inter-collegiate football, as conducted in the 10 universities comprising the western conference, is highly endorsed by those most vitally concerned in the game—the players themselves.

This was revealed today in answers to a questionnaire which Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the conference, submitted to the players who won letters last fall, in an attempt to ascertain what, if anything, was wrong with the sport.

Commissioner Griffith wanted to know whether the players found their gridiron experience to have been more in the nature of drudgery than play; whether the season was too long or too short; whether spring practice should be abolished or shortened, and personal opinions on other questions concerned in the conduct of the sport.

Against Spring Drills

The only revision suggested was on the question of spring training, which, the players voted, should either be abolished or shortened.

Major Griffith received replies from 116 lettermen, who were asked to express their attitudes on several questions. To the question of whether competition should consist of three playing years, the response was 115 to 1, in favor of it. The players also voted, 112 to 4, against the suggestion of limiting the sport to sophomores and juniors.

The present policy of starting the Big Ten season September 15 and ending it the Saturday before Thanksgiving, is highly popular with the players, who voted 101 to 15, in favor of it. The conference rule restricting the season to eight games, was approved and the players voted an overwhelming "no," against further restriction of the length of the season.

Consider It Play

On the question of whether the sport was regarded as play or drudgery, 95 found that it was play, 13 reported it was drudgery, while others found that actual games were play and practice drudgery.

On the question of spring practice, 36 voted to abolish it, while

HOT BATTLE LIKELY IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Bitter Struggle for Flag Looms, with Half Dozen Possible Winners.

NEW YORK, March 26 — That dull, booming sound heard this spring all the way from Clearwater, Florida, to Catalina Islands, California, may have sounded like the coast artillery at practice but it merely is the blasting operations of baseball's heavy duty boys, tuning up for one of the hottest pennant races the old National league ever has had in prospect.

The task of selecting a probable winner in the forthcoming battle is just as much guess-work as it was in trying to detect the eventual winner last August, before the St. finish of the 1930 pennant race. These four—St. Louis, Chicago, New York and Brooklyn — all will toss re-inforced lineups into the thick of this year's action. All rank distinctly as potential winners.

Six Possible Winners

The total list of contenders includes at least five teams, with the

Louis Cardinals braced and rushed to the front.

The first four clubs were separated by only six games at the Pittsburgh Pirates back in good health again, and possibly embraces six, if the much-strengthened Boston Braves are taken into consideration, as they insist they must be.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia, unless the beneficiaries of a miracle or two, seem destined to wage a private fight to keep out of last place.

For four straight years, the National league has waged the bitterest sort of pennant scraps, only to see its flag-bearer take it on the chin, twice from the Yankees and twice from the Athletics. All told, the American leaguers have won 16 of the last 19 series engage-

AN IDEA!

Maybe Marion Should Bid for the Next Ping Pong Tourney!

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 26—Rackets slashed viciously and white balls bounded about; fashionably dressed persons applauded politely and an air of desperate competition cloaked everything just like a Forest Hills tournament. But it was not tennis, No! No! The scene was at a big hotel as the first national ping pong tournament resumed play today.

More than 300 experts from all the country are entered and 180 completed first round play yesterday and the finals take place Saturday.

SHIELDS LOOMS AS DISTINCT HELP TO U. S. TENNIS HOPES

New York Youngster Shows Promise of Developing into Great Player.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 26—Frank X. Shields, a Big Bill Tilden in physique, if not yet in stroke, stood today as an ominous shadow across France's Davis cup hopes of a year or two hence.

The strapping New York City youngster, runner-up to John Hope Doeg, of Newark, N. J., in the national tennis championships at Forest Hills last summer, won both of his singles matches in the international indoor team competition with France, which France won three matches to two, and won them in such decisive fashion as to send American hopes soaring.

Standing well over six feet tall, broad-shouldered, long-armed, the American youngster serves in the manner of Big Bill and covers more court than the bounding Borotra. At 21 he is a better tennis player, experts say, than Tilden was at 24.

The international team match, modeled along Davis cup lines, was won by France largely because Berkeley Bell was not quite up to the class of Boussus, Borotra and Shields.

RAILBIRDS UP EARLY TO CLOCK ENTRANTS

Kentucky Derby Eligibles Work Out Daily at Churchill Downs Track.

By The Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 26—With the $80,000 Kentucky derby less than two months away, Louisville's railbirds are arising in the early morning, braving the cold at Churchill Downs, watching and clocking the workouts of derby eligibles, and keeping the speculation going as to what thoroughbred is to capture the 1931 classic.

The rail sitters have as their reward an occasional fast run by one of the 17 derby candidates already at the Downs, developing their speed and stamina in hopes of being among the favored few which will go to the post in the mile-and-a-quarter fifth race Saturday, May 16.

The remainder of the 130 eligibles will drift in by twos and threes until the great influx begins with the closing of the racing meet at Lexington April 29, and ends after the running of the Preakness at Pimlico, Md., May 9, a week before the big day here.

The Lexington meeting opening April 18 will provide several stakes in which derby eligibles may pound their hoofs on Kentucky soil, as will the Louisville meet, starting May 2.

Two colts attracting the most attention among the early arrivals are Pittsburgher, of the Shady Brook farm, and Insco, owned by Griffin Watkins.

None of the winter book favorites, headed by Equipoise and Twenty Grand, has arrived at the Downs yet.

ENGLISH CLASSIC TO BE RENEWED FRIDAY

44 Horses Will Start Grand National Steeplechase; 7 U. S. Entrants.

By The Associated Press

AINTREE, Eng., March 26—Started 92 years ago by a saloon keeper who sought to draw more trade to his territory, the grand national, the classic of all steeplechase races, will be renewed over the gruelling four and one-half mile Aintree course tomorrow.

With 44 horses, among them seven highly regarded American-owned thoroughbreds, ready to face the barrier, every race follower in town today had a favorite, although the bookies restricted their choices to a more select field.

The starting field will be below the record of 66, due to the new rule made to cut down the unwieldy field of previous years. Originally 84 were nominated.

An American-bred horse has never won the race and only twice has an American owner been successful. In 1923 Sergeant Murphy scored with Stephen (Laddie) Sanford's silks while A. C. Schwartz' Jack Horner won in 1926.

St. Mary Juniors Victor Over Night Hawks 34-6

The St. Mary's Juniors' basketball team won an easy 34 to 6 victory over the Marion Night Hawks last night on the court of The Star Auditorium. The Juniors led the game from the start. Bob Bintz was high scorer with 18 points.

CLEVELAND, O., March 26 — Andy Kerr, grid mentor at Colgate university, will come here by next week to take up the matter of assuming a similar position at Western Reserve university, Director of Athletics Gordon Locke said today.

Kerr has been offered the position and probably would have made a decision by now had he not been ill, according to Locke.

NUTRITIONIST ASKS USE OF VACANT LOTS

Garden Contest Planned Here To Aid Needy Families of Marion.

An appeal to owners of vacant lots to turn their lots over to the city's unemployed for use in the extensive garden contest this spring and summer was made by Miss Esther Tress, school nutritionist, on behalf of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs today.

The contest is sponsored as a movement toward aiding the city's unemployed and will produce garden foods for the needy.

Owners of lots in the city which could be converted into gardens are asked to call 2439, the Red Cross office, or 2676, the Marion Community Fund headquarters, and donate the use of the land this summer.

The federation also will sponsor a garden contest for the boys in the city schools. Plans for both contests are being worked out through the office of the nutrition department of which Miss Tress is head.

HOT BATTLE LIKELY IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Bitter Struggle Looms, with Half Dozen Possible Winners.

ments. Consequently, the National league partisans do not seem to care who wins the pennant so long as the winner can do something to restore the prestige of the older circuit.

Want Another Chance

The St. Louis Cardinals, to a man, yearn for another opportunity. They put up a great fight before yielding to the A's last fall. This spring they walloped the Mackmen in three out of four exhibition engagements.

The fighting spirit and the fine organization of the Cardinals plus the addition of two sensational young pitchers in Dean and Derringer to an already capable twirling troupe, will make the champions difficult to dislodge. They have speed, punch and brains.

Brooklyn, with an array of bludgeoners re-inforced by Lefty O'Doul in the outfield and Fresco Thompson at second base, is formidable in every respect, capable of battering its way to the top by the sheer application of brute force.

New Lineup May Click

John McGraw, shuffling his forces for several years in quest of another winner, may have found the right combination with an impressive newcomer, Johnny Vergez, on third base and Freddy Lindstrom moved to the outfield. The Giants, however, do not seem so well fortified in the box.

Pittsburgh, providing it can shake the injury jinx this year, has a sensational outfield and sufficient all-around strength to slash its way through to the front.

Boston has added three terrific hitters in Washington, Schulmerich and Sheely, but like the Phillies and Reds, must get improved pitching to represent more than a stumbling block to the favorites.

STOCK MARKET LOSES GROUND

Dividend Reductions by Various Companies Cause Slight Downtrend.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 26 - The stock market refused to ignore dividend reductions today, but at the same time was disinclined to be seriously disturbed

Further bullish stimulation in the morning was sufficient to boost several pool favorites to new peaks for the year, but the paring of Anaconda's annual dividend rate from $2.50 to $1.50 had not been generally expected, and the last eased off after midday. Wall Street had plenty of advance information about the cut in Lackawanna's yearly rate from $6 to $4, however, stock trading was listless and in unimportant volume.

There had been some rumors that Anaconda might make another reduction in its rate of disbursement to stockholders, but in view of the steady if slow progress made in controlling red metal output, it had been felt that the rate might be matintained in expectation of better business and metal prices as the year wears on. Copper metal, however, is back to 10 cents a pound only ¼ cent above the low price reached last autumn, and buying has been merely sporadic The low level of activity by electrical equipment manufacturers, and lessened appropriations for new construction by electric power interests, do not promise any early improvement of importance.

The day's corporate news was largely unfavorable, but contained little in the way of real surprise, and speculative interests were encouraged by the small amount of stock which appeared for sale.

The effect of the drawing down of government deposits with banks was reflected in a stepping up of the call loan rate from 1¼ to 2 per cent.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Eggs on the Marion market dropped a cent this morning, keeping pace with the outside markets. They are selling at the local stores from 19 to 25 cents a dozen. The price of eggs in Cleveland came down Wednesday thereby causing the Marion merchants to cut their price.

Although outside markets are cutting the price of butter from one-half cent to a cent the local dealers have not changed their prices. Arizona head lettuce is beginning to come into the Marion stores in a better grade than previously.

WHEAT MOVES IN UPTREND

Prices Gain Slightly, Influenced by Weather Reports in Grain Belt.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 26—Influenced by rain and snow over parts of the domestic grain belt, wheat averaged slightly lower and corn a little higher early today. Liverpool reported that demand there for wheat was insufficient to sustain the market. Opening ¾ cents off to ⅛ up, wheat afterward tended to say. Corn started at ⅛ decline to ¼ advance, and subsequently showed gains all around.

Bears in wheat put emphasis on Liverpool dispatches saying that in the face of firmer offerings from Argentina and the United States, British millers were purchasing only sparingly. Improved crop prospects in France owing to continuous springlike weather counted also as a bearish factor. On the other hand, it was indicated that India would not be an exporter this season, and that Russia would not offer freely until next August. Russian shipments this week totaled but 752,000 bushels.

Despite blizzard reports from some sections west and northwest, with predictions of a cold wave tonight, corn receded from early prices bulges. Chicago receipts of corn were larger, 167 cars, against 99 a week ago and 108 a year back. Wheat weakness acted as a drag, and so too did comparative dearth of general trading in corn Oats were relatively firm.

Provisions went lower, responsive to the course of hog values.

3 Companies Answer Main Street Fire Call

Fire in the rear of 174 North Main street late yesterday afternoon did $200 damage to the living quarters of William J. Burnett just a few hours after he had moved in. The fire is thought to have started from a coal oil lamp in the rear room.

All three fire companies answered the call and extinguished the flames. The rest of the frame building, which houses a barber shop, was threatened for a time.

Service Director Plans Relief for Traffic Jam

North Side of Church Street from Prospect to Orchard To Be Widened Six Feet To Relieve Congested Condition at Harding High School.

One of the first improvements on the 1931 program of the service department will be the widening of Church street from Prospect street to Orchard street to relieve one of the most crowded and cramped traffic conditions in the uptown district.

The improvement, authorized by city council two weeks ago will not begin until after the middle of April when legislation enacted by council becomes effective. Service Director D. I. Harlow has not decided definitely when work will begin.

The section of street will be widened six feet on the north side and minor improvements, including the alteration of corners, will be made. The type of material to be used in paving the widened strip has not definitely been decided, although concrete probably will be used. All work will be done by the service department.

Once under way, the work should not require more than a month's time if weather conditions are favorable, according to officials. The improvement can be made without removing any trees. The project will give work to 10 or more men.

The northeast corner of the intersection of Orchard and Church streets will be modified to a 25-foot radius to speed up traffic, and other similar modifications may be made at Prospect and Union streets.

Completed, the improvement will relieve crowded traffic conditions in front of Harding High school before and after school hours. At present there is scarcely room for two automobiles to pass on the street with cars parked on one side.

NEW YORK—The net value of the estate of the Princess Von Hatzfelt-Wildenburg has been fixed by state tax authorities at $1,585,694. The adopted daugther of the late Collis P. Huntington, railroad builder, died in England in 1928. The estate was left mainly to friends.

CITY TO GET SEAL

Official Insignia To Be Adopted for Dayton.

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., March 26—Dayton has been a city without a seal.

But, through the efforts of Luther Charles, the city's assistant purchasing agent, an appropriate insignia soon will adorn letterheads and other official documents of the municipality.

Since the city was organized, such documents have borne only the name of the city. Charles took note of the fact, and opined that a seal lent dignity to a city.

He told the city commission as much, and fitting the action to the word, became Dayton's official seal hunter.

The commission will soon be presented with a set of drawings of possible seals, from which to make a selection.

Of these, Charles favors one in particular. It is a small triangle containing a sketch of Newcomb tavern, the first house built here, and a sketch of Dayton's old courthouse. Above a monoplane soars, symbolizing the city's claim to the title of "Air City." Beneath these are the inscriptions, "Founded in 1796," and "Semper Excelsis," Latin for "Always Higher."

Troops of the Peruvian provisional government used artillery on the quarters of the troops in revolt down there, killing two score and wounding many more. Let's see. Is this the fifth, the sixth or the seventh revolution down there since the beginning of February?

Secretary Mellon has ordered that "dumping" duties be placed on matches imported from Finland, Norway, Esthonia, Sweden, Latvia, Austria, Holland and Poland. A similar order had previously been issued against Russian matches. Well, why not? Isn't the purpose of our tariff schedules the protection of American industry?

Dr. Robert Morche, French government expert on deafness, told New Yorkers that constant, high-pitched conversation by wives well might be considered a ground for divorce. That's not so far-fetched. A western woman secured a divorce because her husband snored.

A Shanghai cable to the New York Times says that the Peiping-Hankow railroad is again operating through trains; the "Nanking government having rushed 50,000,000 troops to the affected area" to repulse the reds, who have held it for a fortnight. We'll say that somebody has been mighty liberal in the use of ciphers.

"Delhi Mob Assails Gandhi as a Betrayer," reads a headline from that Indian city over a story relating that the All-India Congress party is charging that Gandhi surrendered to the British government. It was ever thus. Gandhi has done more to secure concessions from the British government than all other Indian leaders, past as well as present, combined, but yet the mob yelled for his overthrow as leader.

Another Fine Actor Gone.

Robert Edeson, the last of the four capable actors and footlight favorites who listened to the persuasive voice of Cecil B. DeMille back in 1914 and left the stage to go to the Pacific coast and risk their fortunes in the comparatively untried films was taken by death this week in his rustic cottage home in the hills overlooking Hollywood. The other three of the gifted quartet were Theodore Roberts, Dustin Farnum and James Neill. Farnum went to his death first, then Roberts and but slightly over two weeks ago Neill was buried. And now Edeson is dead at sixty-two.

The four were warned by their stage associates that they were making a mistake by going to what then was the little town of Hollywood; that they would suffer both in professional reputation and in fortune. Yet the screen gave them far greater return in a monetary way than the stage ever had and probably ever would had they remained faithful to it. All of them amassed wealth and added to the fame they had attained on the stage by their portrayals in the movies.

Edeson, who had become one of the best-known actors of the last half century through his virile portrayal of the name part in the famed Indian stage play, "Strongheart," and had achieved great artistic success in "The Little Minister" and "Soldiers of Fortune," contributed splendid efforts to the screen in "The Ten Commandments," "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "King of Kings," "The Volga Boatman" and "Feet of Clay." The last picture in which he appeared was "Carry On," which was finished last December.

For years Robert Edeson was the mentor and counsellor to the younger set in Hollywood, a regular father to them, to whom they went with their troubles and their sorrows, and it was his painstaking work with many in training them how to enunciate and speak effectually before the microphone that enabled them to retain their standing when the talkies became the vogue. His 'boys and girls," as he called them, owe much to his memory.

At this bedside when death came were his wife and his old-time actor friend, Edmund Breese. Some time before they had suggested that Roberta, his daughter by his first wife, be called.

"What is the use?" was his reply. "She is young. Why afflict her with sorrow."

And shortly before death, Edeson whispered. "If it's all right, make the funeral at noon. That will give the boys and girls a chance to come without holding up a picture or losing time."

Thoughtful and considerate even in the face of death!

An Interesting Affiliation.

When the appointment of William N. Doak as secretary of labor was announced, a roar went up from the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Doak was not affiliated with the federation, his chief connection with labor up to that time had been as high ranking official in the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which he had served off and on since 1903.

The present position of Mr. Doak as secretary of labor over protest of the American Federation of Labor spokesmen may have something to do with the fact that negotiations now are pending for the affiliation of the two organizations. Though clouded by innumerable difficulties, the prospect that these two labor groups might join forces is highly interesting.

The railroad brotherhoods have remained outside the American Federation of Labor because they grew up as separate institutions—the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. There have been cordial relations throughout and a similarity of purpose, but the growth of the railroad brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor has been separate.

This has been assisted by the fact that railroad workers are engaged in the semi-public field of transportation, and their unions have been given a form of official recognition as factors in the economic life of the nation. Concrete difficulties to affiliation also have existed in the problems of jurisdiction. For instance, the Brotherhood of Trainmen is composed of switchmen, flagmen, brakemen, baggagemen, switch tenders and conductors and there is at present a switchmen's union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

But rising above all objections and difficulties is the desirability of a united front for labor. Railroads are feeling keenly the effect of competition from other modes of transportation. Within the industry itself, improvements in terminal facilities, more powerful engines and longer trains are making payroll decreases imperative. In the struggle to exist, the various roads have been obliged to resort to strict economy measures.

Combined, the two organizations would represent a membership of well over 2,500,000. The simple credo that "in numbers there is strength" may be sufficient to explain what advantage there is to be gained by affiliating.

The Rev. Eliot White, whose connection with Grace Episcopal church in New York City was severed owing to his views on companionate marriage, having failed to attract sufficient attention as an apple seller, is now parading in clerical garb before the Episcopal residence of Bishop William T. Manning of the diocese of New York bearing a card reading: "Bishop, I ask you for justice." The Rev. Mr. White seemingly has found at least a job for which he is fitted.

To Deport Seamen Illegally Here.

Proceeding under the decision of the United States supreme court delivered by Justice Holmes Monday, holding that any alien seaman who illegally entered the United States since the immigration act of 1924 went into effect, may be deported, the department of labor will at once inaugurate a campaign to send out of the country all alien seamen wrongfully here.

Secretary of Labor Doak estimates that there are 100,000 deportable aliens in the country, the majority of whom are filling jobs which should go to American citizens, and that 100,000 of these are seamen, or men who entered the country as seamen, who deserted their ships.

Labor department officials state that many of the seamen shipped on alien vessels and deserted in an effort to beat the quota provisions of the immigration laws, their occupations including those of sailors, firemen, engineers, musicians, waiters and other skilled and semi-skilled mechanics.

"Most deserting seamen," Secretary Doak has stated, "take employment in the United States, thereby depriving citizens and lawfully resident aliens of jobs and department of labor officials are confident that it will be possible to expel many who had evaded arrest."

It may be said that the department of labor not only hopes to deport the alien seamen illegally within our boundaries, but also the remainder of the 400,000 or more aliens not legally admitted.

The supreme court's decision was rendered in the case of a Greek seaman, who shipped from his native land and arrived in New York, where he deserted, in September of 1925. He claimed immunity from deportation on the ground that he had been here for three years befor his arrest in December of 1928 under the provision of the immigration act of 1917. The district court decided against him and the circuit court of appeals affirmed the order of the district court, whereupon he carried his appeal to the supreme court. The last-named court affirmed the two other courts, denying the right which he might have claimed under the 1917 act because of the fact that he entered the country subsequent to the time that the 1924 act went into effect, and the appellant, Demetrious Philippides, will be shipped back to his native land.

To the layman, the supreme court's decision will appeal as good sound sense. To hold that alien seamen who desert their vessels to remain here should be given any rights denied other aliens illegally here would make of them a privileged class contrary to all sense and justice.

The Chicago Coliseum club wants $500,000 damages for the failure of Jack Dempsey to meet Harry Wills, the Negro challenger, in 1926. What does it profit a man to attain championship pugilistic honors if he has to spend the remainder of his life fighting the attempts of promoters to get away from him the monetary rewards of his championship?

The maneuvers of our fleet off Panama have convinced Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams that the battleship is still the backbone of modern fleets, despite the increased importance of aviation and that the value of plane assault and defense is largely theoretical. The probable result will be that the air champions will now be holding that the old naval guard got to him.

Editorial Opinion.

THE DEBENTURE AGAIN.

The debenture plan of farm relief, defeated when the farm relief act was passed and again as a rider to the Hawley-Smoot tariff act, is promptly revived on the announcement of the farm board that its price-pegging operations will not be extended to the 1931 wheat crop.

Many administration leaders, frightened by the eleven-cent decline in June wheat Monday, and fearful of a further reduction when the 1931 crop begins to come in, are of the opinion that the American price of wheat must not be permitted to drop to the world level. They are fearful of both the economic and political consequences of a further sharp decline.

The farm issue is thus back about where it was five years ago when both parties were trying to find a position on which they could stand in the election of 1928. Now, as then, proposed plans of relief center on the one hand about the debenture idea under which the government would pay a direct subsidy to the wheat grower; and on the other the equalization fee plan which contemplates the dumping of a portion of our surplus products abroad, and the imposition of an assessment against growers to compensate for the low price at which the surplus is sold.

The administration is against the debenture. The equalization plan proved unpopular because its cost was to fall not on the government, but on the benefitting industry, and because it involved a crude dumping device which threatened to invite retaliation.

The crisis is likely to arise before congress meets again. With the farm board surplus overhanging the market and a large crop to be harvested this year, the price is likely to fall to its natural level by midsummer, assuming that the farm board remains out of the market.

It is possible that the pressure for relief from sixty-cent wheat will be so strong that a special session will be called. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SALVAGED THEIR DIGNITY.

China is probably the only country in the world where men feel insulted by an offer to increase their salaries; and perhaps not all Chinese are so squeamish in that respect as the Shanghai intelligentsia are.

The Commercial Press, an extensive publishing house conducted by Chinese, sent its managing director around the world to pick up tips on efficiency. When he got back to Shanghai he called in his editors, and, after telling them how much the company appreciated their loyalty and industry, asked those who were doing more work than their salaries called for to accept an increase in remuneration. Outside of China such offers seldom are refused. Consequently the managing director's astonishment can be imagined, when the editors turned his offer down flat. They were furious at what they called "an insult to their dignity." They denounced the director in seven dialects for treating educated men like coolie laborers.

The management withdrew its offer, and the editors, at the last report, were content again, working overtime for their old salaries. They had saved their face. What an excellent thing it would be for some other countries if their intelligentsia thought as much of their "face" as these Shanghai scribes do of theirs!—Detroit Free Press.

Diamond Mountains of Korea.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

For ages the Diamond mountains of Korea have been the refuge of Buddhist monks during times of stress and danger. Today this lovely and mysterious region is studded with temple and monasteries of the followers of Buddha.

The Diamond mountains are so named, not because they yield diamonds, but because their peaks are so sharply pointed. Globe trotters have compared the region's climate to that of Florida. It has the advantage over Florida of being a mountainous country.

The American residents in Korea use this part of the country as a vacation resort. The entire district is called Kongosan. Under its bracing climate, the mountain peasants have come through centuries of oppression and war, sweet-natured and gentle.

The picturesque folk are better off today under Japanese jurisdiction, than they have ever been before. The Japanese have introduced the novelty of education. Modern methods of agriculture are replacing the age-old ones.

The dress of the Yangbans is perhaps the most startling feature that meets the stranger's eye in Korea. The Yangbans are members of the old time gentry.

Though most of these gentlemen are penniless, they never forget the social superiority of their birth. In their funny fiber or horsehair "flytrap" hats and long, flowing robes and high-soled shoes, turned up at the tips, they stride down the dusty roads like kings of the earth.

In one hand, the Yangban generally carries a three-foot long pipe and in the other a cane of the same length. He hasn't any money but, after all, he is a gentleman, the fact being that he is the only member of his community who doesn't work.

May Depend on Patient.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Not long ago I told you about the diseases of the kidney. It was pointed out that we need no longer dread this condition as we did formerly.

Today, I want to tell you a little more about the kidney. There are some precautions which are very important in taking care of any chronic disease of this organ. The outcome of the case depends entirely upon the management of the patient.

There is little hope of a complete cure for this condition when once it has become established. But much can be done to improve the state of the kidneys and the general welfare of the body. No one need consider himself doomed because he has this trouble, but he should attempt to improve his general health. After it is discovered, the disease can be prevented from advancing and causing more damage to the body.

All alcoholic drinks must be avoided. Salts, pepper, spices and other condiments should be omitted from the diet.

Care should be taken to avoid cold and undue exposure to sudden weather changes. A drop in the temperature causes chilling of the skin, with resulting congestion of the kidneys. It is best to live in a warm climate if it is possible, but if care is exercised this is not urgent.

Mental unrest, caused by worry and anxiety, should be avoided as much as possible. It is difficult, of course, to eliminate worry, but efforts should be made to do so. Relaxation, both in work and play, is the keynote of success. This is true, not only in kidney disease, but in dealing with every medical problem.

All hygienic measures, such as plenty of fresh air, sunshine, proper elimination, and daily bathing are of utmost importance. If we did not neglect these personal duties, we would avoid most ailments.

The diet plays an important part in this disease. Unfortunately, I can not go into detail in this matter, because not all forms of kidney disease are alike. Each requires its own particular diet. It is advisable that each case be considered upon its merits and that diet instructions be given by your physician.

In general it can be said that the diet should be light and nourishing. Once a day is enough for the meat dish. Never eat excessively of any food. Temperance in all things is important.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Stanley, Master Journalist.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

One of the most stirring and adventurous professions, or undertakings, is exploration. Many of the highest qualities are required for its successful prosecution. Indispensable are leadership, resource, scientific knowledge, patience, endurance, judgment and common sense. The stories of explorers are among the most exciting the world has to offer. Few careers in modern times have so moved the world as that of Sir Henry Morton Stanley, famous chiefly for going to the relief of Dr. Livingstone in the heart of Africa and finding him.

Born as John Rowlands, about 1840, in Denbigh, Wales, he spent a miserable boyhood in the poorhouse, as the result of the poverty of his family. At the age of sixteen, ill-treated by every one, he ran away from the poorhouse and shipped as cabin boy on an American vessel bound for New Orleans. After being cruelly treated by the skipper, he left the ship, and was aided by a broker named, Stanley, whose name he took and bore through life.

Stanley's sense of allegiance and loyalty was not very high. After serving for a time in the armies of the confederacy, he was captured at the Battle of Shiloh, transferred his allegiance to the northern side, and served in the artillery. Discharged on account of ill health, he returned to his native place, where he was disowned by his relatives and ordered to leave. He enlisted in the United States navy, witnessed some notable engagements, sent brilliant accounts of them to the newspapers. After the war was over, he became a journalist, with a particular interest in exploration. His attempt to explore Asia in 1866 ended disastrously, as he was robbed by a band of Turkomans and thrown into prison. After his release, he returned to the United States; and the vivid narrative of his adventures won him a post as special correspondent of a St. Louis newspaper. Certain of his writings were published in the New York Herald. In the war between England and Abyssinia, he served as war correspondent for the Herald; and won fame for himself by a magnificent "scoop," sending his news of the English victory by wire and anticipating the other correspondents by several weeks!

Stanley's spectacular fame was won, in carrying out the unique commission given him by James Gordon Bennett, to find Dr. Livingstone, who was lost in Africa searching for the Congo. After incredible hardships, he finally reached Livingstone in the neighborhood of Lake Tanganyika in "Darkest Africa." This exploit made him world-famous; and his quiet words of greeting to the lost explorer were quoted everywhere. "Dr. Livingstone, I presume?" After making explorations in company and disproving the theory that Lake Tanganyika was connected with the Albert Nyanza, Stanley and Livingstone separated. Livingstone remained in Africa, to continue his search for the Congo; and Stanley returned to civilization, receiving a great ovation in London. After following the Ashanti war, he made a series of explorations in Africa, covering the better part of three years. He was often in danger of his life from hostile savages, and had to fight his way out. His explorations were of great geographical value in connection with the Congo region.

When the British government could not be induced to settle and civilize the Congo, Stanley accepted the offer of King Leopold of Belgium, and on August 15, 1879, returned to Africa to found the Congo Free State. After the fall of Khartum, he rescued Emin Pasha; and also discovered the Ruwenzori mountains and the Albert Edward Nyanza. He died on May 10, 1904, his funeral services being conducted in Westminster abbey. — Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

New Clues Develop in Ferguson Murder Mystery.

Oakland Nurse Victim of Unknown Killer Back in 1925.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Murder cases which were nationwide sensations of recent years still are listed in the various cities as "unsolved mysteries." Associated Press writers have gathered details of some of the most interesting of these cases. This is the third of a series of six stories.

By The Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif.—When scientific crime detection methods fail, "time" becomes the chief ally of the detective. On this belief District Attorney Earl Warren rests his chief hope of solving the mysterious murder of Bessie Ferguson.

Although it has been nearly six years since the comely San Francisco nurse's dissected body was found, scarcely a month has passed without bringing some new clue, false or otherwise, to keep alive official interest in the case.

In a legal sense the case is unique in many ways.

Whereas many murder cases fail of successful court prosecution for lack of a "corpus delicti," Alameda county finds itself in possession of the "body of the crime" without official recognition that a murder has been committed.

District Attorney Warren declares it has been definitely established that the Ferguson woman was slain, her identity has been proved beyond dispute, and the insurance company has paid the policy on her life, yet no coroner's inquest has been held and no court or other official action ever has been taken to indicate officially that a crime has been committed.

NEITHER has there been a funeral. The body is retained by the authorities of Alameda county, and from time to time expenditures are authorized to defray the cost of preserving it.

When the auburn-haired nurse left her hotel in San Francisco on the August evening in 1925 when she was last seen alive, she told her mother she was going across the bay to Oakland to meet Sheriff Frank Barnet, Alameda county's veteran peace officer.

Subsequently the names of four other more or less prominent residents of bay cities were brought into the investigation.

The killing—almost in the back yards of two widely-famous criminologists, Chief of Police August Vollmer of Berkeley and E. O. Heinrich, consulting criminologist—engaged perhaps the greatest array of police talent ever employed on a California case.

Vollmer's newly developed lie-detector was credited with eliciting additional pertinent information from questioned witnesses, but no arrests were ever made.

HEINRICH, examining in his laboratory a tiny grain of earth found in the dead woman's hair, declared his opinion that the slaying and dismemberment may have taken place not where the parts of her body were first found, northwest of Berkeley, but on Bay Farm island, several miles southeast of Oakland. He based his conclusions on the character of the soil.

A few days after his announcement, additional portions of the body were found in the estuary near Bay Farm island.

Parts of the body having been found at widely-separated points in Contra Costa and Alameda counties the coroner of each county declined to assume there was sufficient evidence to show the killing had taken place in his jurisdiction. Both declined to hold inquests.

Piece by piece the body was reassembled, and custody of it was assumed by District Attorney Warren.

SEVERAL deputy sheriffs corroborated the declaration of Sheriff Barnet that on the night of the slaying he was in his private office.

The hunting lodge which Barnet frequently occupied and his home were raided and searched, but no evidence against him was disclosed. At the next election he was defeated for office after many years of tenure.

"The atrocious nature of the crime," he says, "makes it morally certain that some one's conscience will eventually cause a breakdown and insanity or a confession result."

He believes he has sufficient evidence to prove the motive for the crime, but not to constitute evidence acceptable to a court as to the identity of the perpetrator as between two or more suspects; that the parts of the body found near Bay Farm island were placed there by an implicated person after Heinrich's announcement.

"It isn't personal influence or prominence that is standing in the way of a solution of this mystery," he declared. "It is just that the slayer has been sufficiently clever to outwit us. But time is our ally and some time, before I am out of office I hope, I am sure he will be caught."

The mystery slaying of Clifford Hicks, St. Louis attorney will be the next story in this series.

Scarcely a month passes that does not yield some new clue, false or otherwise, to give a new turn to the six-year hunt of District Attorney Earl Warren (right) for the slayer of Bessie Ferguson (left), in Oakland, Calif. She left home one night in 1925, saying she was going to visit Sheriff Frank Barnet (below). She never arrived at his office. Parts of her dismembered body were later found in two counties.

REDISTRICTING PLAN FAVORED

Ohio Legislators Give Tentative Approval to Congressional Approval.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 26—Tentative approval of most of the districts proposed by the senate sub-committee on elections for redistricting the state to give Ohio two additional congressmen under the last census was given last night by the senate and house committees sitting in joint session.

Senator C. J. Anderson, Republican Richland county chairman of the sub-committee which prepared the measure declared it is not a gerrymander to give either the Democrats or Republicans advantage in election of congressmen but a "fair" redistricting measure, based upon Ohio's increase in population

Favor Anti-Primary Bill

Before considering the redistricting bill the senate elections committee recommended adoption of the constitutional amendment proposed by Senator Milton J. Scott, Republican, of Ross county, abolishing the direct primary system of nominating candidates for state senatorial and district candidates, and reverting to the old convention system of making nominations, with provisions for referendum on the convention's action by those participating in the conventions

The committee also recommended enactment of a law increasing the terms of all county officials to four years. The house already has passed a bill by Representative S. E. Forney, Republican, of Hancock county, increasing the term of recorder to four years.

Two Exceptions

Should the bill be enacted, treasurers and sheriffs could serve but two years as there is a constitutional inhibition against those officials serving more than fours years out of six.

The senate already has adopted a constitutional amendment proposed by Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican, of Hamilton county, increasing the terms of governor and other state officials to four years.

GREAT BRITAIN has been in "a fever excitement." Not because Lloyd George's Liberal party is combining with labor, not from worry about unemployment, nor bad conditions in British industry.

The fever was all about three horse races, the Lincolnshire, Aintree Grand National. The Lincolnshire was won yesterday by "Knight Error." The Aintree will be run today and the Grand National on Friday.

After that, unemployment and minor worries will resume their importance.

MRS. LILLIE SCHAEFER of Brooklyn, N. Y. at 21 was through with life although she had two pretty girls. Her husband was out of work. She was unable to find a job, and decided that life had lasted too long. She put the little girls carefully in one room, shut the door, went into another to kill herself by gas. After the gas had been turned on a while it occurred to her that it might pass under the door and hurt the children if left on all night. She turned it off, waited several hours, then left a note in a milk bottle on the front doorstep, turned on the gas and lay down. The milkman found the note, a policeman broke the door. The children were sleeping peacefully, the mother, not quite dead, was revived and will live to continue looking for a job.

AFTER MAKING an agreement with Gandhi, the British proceeded to execute three Hindus for killing one of their policemen. You read that. Other Hindus rioted, and yesterday 40 of them were killed, 100 injured.

The Hindu mob even turned against its idol, Gandhi, calling him a murderer because he had made a truce with the British, who then hanged the three Hindus. Being a prophet in your own country is not easy.

One indignant Hindu tried to kill Gandhi with a heavy flagpole, striking at him savagely. This reminds you of savages that beat the images of their gods when they do not give satisfactory results.

Alabama Mob Threatens To Lynch Nine Negroes

By The Associated Press

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., March 26—Cold breezes from the mountains, about 70 national guardsmen and the sheriff, his nine deputies and several citizens today preserved quiet around the jail here where nine Negroes are held for an alleged attack on two white girls who were "bumming" their way home on a freight car.

A mob that varied from 100 to 300—including local citizens and mountaineers who came to town astride mules and in automobiles—menaced the jail last night and the guardsmen were called. The crowd lingered for some time, but as the cold of a mountain night increased all but a score dispersed. Sheriff M. L. Wann said the Negroes confessed.

TWO CASES SETTLED

first time since the radio began to compete.

The Massachusetts state department of labor and industries says employment showed a greater gain in February than in any month since September, 1929.

The Connecticut chamber of commerce reported a slight rising tendency in general business during March.

About 1,000 men went to work Monday on full time at the Weirton Steel company plant at Steubenville, O. The Ohio state industrial relations department, though reporting employment at its low est level, the week of March 16, found an increase in the number of persons to put to work the week of March 23.

In Chicago metal trade manufacturers and department stores have increased personnel. Large machinery manufacturing companies report an increase in inquiries about orders. Western Electric has let a contract for a $1,000,000 addition to its Hawthorn plant.

The Inland Steel corporation in Milwaukee, Wis., opened five of its ten sheet metal mills a few days ago.

Women's wear industries in St. Paul, Minn., show a greater seasonal gain than in 1929 or 1930—26 of the 32 plants in the city are running to capacity.

The Iowa state labor bureau found a slight increase of employment in March.

CHAIN STORE TAX BILL BEFORE COMMITTEE

Ohio House Group Expected To Act Today; Hearing Held Last Night.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 26 — The house taxation committee was expected to act today on the Justus bill proposing a tax on chain stores, following a public hearing on the measure last night at which no opposition to the measure was expressed. It is anticipated the committee will recommend passage of the measure.

A measure designed to tax chain stores, but differing in some respects from the present bill, was before the previous assembly, but was held to be unconstitutional by Attorney General Bettman. Representative Charles E. Justus, Democrat of Franklin county, author of the bill, said the constitutional objection has been overcome in his measure. The attorney general has not given an opinion on the constitutionality of the Justus bill.

The bill proposes to tax chain stores with two to five branches at $50 per year per store, and all over five branches at $100 per year, per branch. The measure, it was said, contemplates taxing gasoline filling stations. The estimated revenue is $1,250,000 per year. Out of this sum, $440,000 would be distributed to the counties for mothers' pensions and the remainder placed in the state general revenue fund.

GOVERNMENTS FIRM CONCERNING PROJECT

Austria, Germany Insist Proposed Treaty Not Violation of Former Pacts.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, March 26 — Despite a British suggestion that Germany and Austria take their projected economic union before the council of the League of Nations, the two governments were represented today as firm in their intention of carrying out plans to which most of the nations of Europe have taken exception.

Chancellor Bruening, a government statement said, told the British ambassador the proposed customs accord was within the bounds of the Geneva protocol and the treaty of St. Germaine, which pledge Austria to maintain its independence, and that in the opinion of the two governments there was no reason for the league council to take up the matter.

He further stated that if other governments wished to examine legal aspects of the accord, Germany and Austria would not object, since there was no reason for them to fear the outcome of such examination, but that the accord was purely economic and that the German government considered it inadmissible to submit the agreement to examination from a political viewpoint.

Suggestions Powerful—If You Carry a Gun!

By United Press

CLEVELAND, O., March 26—Harold Schwartz, owner of a Cleveland haberdashery shop, today is a strong believer in the power of suggestion.

Last night a well dressed young man entered Schwartz' store and the two began chatting about the weather, baseball, murder trials and things like that. The conversation veered to holdups.

"This would be a good spot for a stickup," said Schwartz.

"Yeah," drawled the young man drawing a gun, "hand it over." Schwartz handed over $300.

REPORT ON STATE EXAM MADE HERE

State Accountant Lists Findings of $1,740 in County, Township Audit.

ditches were declared illegally paid. The journal records, the examiners said, showed that the commissioners did not contain formal resolutions for the award of the formal contracts. Contractors named were L. D. Brady, $329.90 for extra contract on Marion-Morrow joint road, W. C. Bailey, $192.90 for extra contract on Owens-Maple Grove road, F. A. Frobase Co., $880.70 for extra contract on Ququa ditch, F. A. McAllister, $2,522.04 for extra work on Ququa ditch. No findings were returned against the contractors by the examiner.

The examiner urged that the Marion County Agricultural society improve its system of keeping records and minutes of meetings.

Advises Fair Board

In making constructive criticism of the conduct of the society's affairs the examiner said, "The success of the fairs as made possible by the efforts of members and officers of this society is measured to some degree by the financial standing at the close of each fair year. Without the proper record to show from what sources the money comes, a study of that particular department cannot be had and consequently the stronger departments carry the excess burden and will continue to do so and yet no effort could be made to remedy the weaker department.

"All contracts for space, concessions and so forth, should be written and the parties held to their terms accordingly. The race department should not be permitted to operate as in the past, as a proper record of the receipts and disbursments for same cannot be properly audited."

The system of paroling prisoners from the county jail was hit by the examiner. He held that the county is losing hundreds of dollars as a result of these prisoners failing to live up to the terms of the paroles. He said that through a misunderstanding the payments due on paroles have been made to the municipal court, if any such payments were made. As a result, he said, the county commissioners lost account of the payments with a direct result that violators were not recommitted. He urged that in the future that all payments be made to the commissioners.

No Ledgers

Failure of a number of townships to keep appropriation ledgers as required by law led to practically all the expenditures of these subdivisions being declared illegal. Payments totaling $375,740.06 made by 10 townships were declared not in keeping with the law governing the use of the ledgers. The report said that the clerks in each of the cases had agreed to follow the prescribed form in the future. No findings were returned in these cases.

MERCURY DROPS AS STORM SWEEPS WEST

Pre-Easter Gale Brings Sub-Zero Temperatures to Mountain Region.

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Colo., March 26—The Rocky Mountain region was in the grip of a pre-Easter storm today.

The gale struck swiftly, howling down upon Montana and Wyoming to sweep snow last night into Colorado and on down into New Mexico. To the west, Utah felt its breath.

Henry C. Hollenbeck, National Parks airway pilot was forced down south of Spencer, Ida. Airplanes of lines operating east and west through Cheyenne, Wyo., were kept on the ground.

Motorists were warned against attempts to travel. One who set out from Cheyenne for Greeley, Colo., last night managed to buck his way through three miles of drifts, piled up by a 40-mile an hour wind and then fought for an hour to retrace his way back.

Sub zero temperatures were reported for several hundred miles along the path of the storm.

Rain, hail and snow fell in Kentucky yesterday through New Mexico.

Louisiana, from whom he first heard of the sacrifices of Father Damien among the lepers of Molokai. The work appealed to him. He wrote to Father Damien and a few months later he was on his way to the little Pacific island.

There have been several ventured opinions why Brother Joseph turned from worldliness to holiness, but an authenticated reason never has been established. Some have told that the suffering and privation he witnessed during the Civil war left an indelible impression upon him, others that he felt a "sin upon his soul." A few even insisted that it was a "blighted romance." Brother Joseph never said why, but it was recalled on that on one occasion he merely said that he realized his folly and decided to redeem himself during the remainder of his life.

Always content to spend his strange life on the secluded spot between the Pacific surf and the walls of volcanic rock that form a perpendicular cliff behind Kalawao, Brother Joseph never left the island. Three years after his arrival, upon the death of Father Damien, he became administrator of the work in the colony, developing a clean, wholesome appearing city.

Brother Joseph was born April 27, 1843, at Stowe, Vt.

13 MINES IDLE AS WORKMEN WALK OUT

Pennsylvania Miners Protest Replacing of Veterans with New Men.

By International News Service.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., March 26—Thirteen of the 14 mines of the Glen Alden Coal company in Luzerne county were idle today and 20,000 men were out on strike as leaders of local unions continued their movement of protest against ousting of old employes and replacement of them by new men.

Four more collieries joined the strikers today in their defiance of district and international mine union officials.

Survey of the district today showed the entire list of operations of the Glen Alden in this region virtually paralyzed. Of 22 local unions, 20 have joined in sending delegates to the grievance committee meeting to join in the walkout.

Terming the strike illegal and branding it an "outlaw" demonstration, Philip Murray, international vice-president of the United Mine Workers union, Thomas Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer, and John Boylan, district No. 1 president appeared at the grievance committee meeting and requested the strikers to return to work while arbitration efforts went forward.

They were shouted down. Communistic sympathizers in the gallery of the meeting hall booed the officials and flooded the auditorium with handbills, urging the miners to ignore the union officials.

TREASURY TO ASK MORE BONUS FUNDS

Unexpected Rush for Veterans' Loans Causes Prospective Deficit.

WASHINGTON, March 26—An additional $100,000,000, needed because of a prospective $700,000,000 deficit and loans to World war veterans, will be sought Monday by the treasury.

Secretary Mellon said 90-day treasury bills for $100,000,000 "or thereabouts" selling at a discount, will be offered next week at Federal reserve banks to the highest bidders. The money will be used for government expenses and to pay loans to veterans on their adjusted compensation certificates.

The veterans bureau has received 1,571,291 applications from veterans for loans. Veterans Administrator Hines estimated that if the $377 average loan value of 501,203 checks already mailed is maintained the treasury will need $600,000,000.

Hines has asked the treasury to supply $500,000,000 before April 11 for the loans. Until he made the request, only $300,000,000 had been provided in the belief that would be sufficient for the bureau until the end of June. Loan applications, however, were received in much larger volume than had been expected and the additional money was asked.

Declining revenues, including income tax collections, have led to the $700,000,000 deficit forecast.

Musical Robbers Raid N.Y. Home, Torture Owner

By United Press

HOLLIS, N. Y., March 26—Three robbers with a penchant for music ransacked the home of a dentist and tortured him early today while their two women companions donned his wife's garments to the soulful tunes of a radio.

Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Bigall, 23 and 21 respectively, returned home shortly after midnight. They were about to enter the house when a man stepped from behind a bush and confronted them with a revolver. The bandit was joined by two companions, who ordered the dentist and his wife into the house.

Dr. Bigall was forced to hand over $48 and a ring. A bracelet set with four diamonds and worn by Mrs. Bigall caught the eye of one of the woman robbers.

After remaining in the house for about an hour and 15 minutes, alternatively listening to the radio and searching for something to drink, the five donned their hats, walked to the curb where they had parked their automobile and made their getaway.

Dr. and Mrs. Bigall after notifying the police, were taken to a hospital, where the dentist was treated for burns and lacerations and Mrs. Bigall for shock.

ADVANCE NEW CAUSE FOR POTTER DEATH

Hint Former Councilman Killed To Protect Unidentified Clevelanders.

6:30 p. m., Feb. 3, followed the claim to that effect made yesterday by Prosecutor Ray T. Miller.

Miller claimed Potter was slain about 7:15 p. m. Feb. 3, but the defense attorneys said evidence will show it was not until 9:00 or 9:30 p. m.

Star Witness Due Today

Six of the star witnesses by whom Prosecutor Ray T. Miller hopes to show the Pittsburgh whisky runner was one of the conspirators against Potter were to be called today.

The witnesses were Fred C. Laub, custodian of the apartment building who said Martin and the "M. J. Markus" who leased the suite were the same man; Mrs. Laub, who discovered the body after it lay on a davenport five days; Queen Esther Morgan, 16-year-old high school girl who said she saw Martin in the building twice, Mrs. Betty Gray, who said she once let Martin into the building and provided the tip which led to his arrest in Pittsburgh; traffic Patrolman Andrew Bessick, who claimed he saw Potter and Martin cross his intersection; and Mrs. Myrta McCurdy of Beaver Falls, Pa., sister of Mrs. Laub, who was expected to strengthen the identification of "Markus" as Martin.

The state's story was picked up from the dramatic point where it left off yesterday when Mrs. Beatrice Potter, widow of the slain man, took the stand to tell of the last time she saw him. A few feet from her was the blood-spattered davenport on which Potter had collapsed, fatally wounded.

DEPUTY SHERIFF MAY QUIT POST

Crawford County Officials Refuse To Comment on Rumors Regarding Move.

Special to The Star.

BUCYRUS, March 26—Unofficial rumors here today were to the effect that Deputy Sheriff Arthur Stuckert would resign his position. Neither Stuckert nor the Crawford county commissioners would make any statement regarding the rumor.

Stuckert, a Republican, was with Sheriff Davenport when the latter was killed while attempting to arrest a trio of Negroes at Crestline last January. Later a petition signed by several hundred residents of the county was presented the commissioners asking his appointment as sheriff Davenports successor.

Fred Vollmer, a Democrat and also a deputy sheriff, was named to fill Davenport's unexpired term.

The rumors also state that Otto Steiger, Republican deputy in the sheriff's office, will resign.

Stuckert's proposed resignation is the result of his displeasure over the appointment of a successor to Davenport, according to the rumors.

MOTHER SINGERS NEW MUSIC GROUP

Women of South Side Community Club Form Novel Organization.

Teacher association at Columbus, has sung before the Greenwood P-T A. and appeared on programs in its own community club.

The ultimate aim of those interested in Mother Singers groups and their place in the community, is for each Parent-Teacher association or Community club in the city to have such a group, and for these groups to meet and discuss their problems.

The South Side Community club is made up of the Parent-Teacher associations from the Lincoln and Pearl Street buildings. Every mother having a child in either of the schools is eligible to belong to the Mother Singers.

Discovers Talent

Latent talent has been discovered by Mrs. Moore since the chorus was organized. To date, four of the women have been recommended to the Marion Lecture-Recital club for membership.

The big thing over which Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Moore fairly bubble when asked about their Mother Singers, is that the organization has brought together so many women who otherwise might never have met. Sociability is the keynote of the group. After three rehearsals one is guaranteed to be calling the other members by first names. The Mother Singers is that kind of a chorus.

And what health hints, household helps and home cures are passed around in the few minutes before the chorus can be settled for rehearsal. Mothers can't get together without discussing these things and Mrs. Moore gives them time for that before she taps the music stand for attention.

The Mother Singers has done more to make the community club democratic than any other plan since the club was first organized. People can't sing together and remain in that state of stand-offish coma which is death to any group.

Grows from Trio

Mrs. Myers first thought was to pick a trio of women to sing on the community club programs, but the idea grew and expanded until she announced at a Puritan tea near Thanksgiving time that a Mother Singers group was to be organized at the next meeting.

Slips of paper were distributed and 43 mothers signed for membership in the chorus. Too heavy home duties called three of them, leaving 40 earnest, enthusiastic members as the nucleus of the chorus.

Mrs. Moore was called and was equally interested and willing to give her time and knowledge of music to the enterprise, and out of this beginning has grown the movement that promises to be citywide. Plans are going forward in the Greenwood P-T A. for the organization of a chorus this spring or next fall, and several other of the school groups have discussed a Mother Singers chorus.

The Mother Singers will appear in dresses of the same design and color when the chorus sings in the near future, if plans of those at the head of the group are carried out.

To make Marion music-conscious is one of the platforms of the chorus. To give mothers an opportunity to sing and to appear in public is another, and to give every mother an outside interest is a third.

Several of the mothers have confessed since joining the Singers that until then they hadn't appeared on a public platform since their school days.
